

WISCONSIN VOTERS ASKED TO SUPPORT LOYAL CANDIDATE

By Ellis B. Usher.

Milwaukee, March 16.—The center of interest for the week has been the senatorial campaign, and yet the registration is the principal evidence that the people are generally in hand. When this letter is read it will be too late to change the setting or alter votes. Mr. McGovern was right when he said that Victor Berger's indecision closed the doors of the United States senate on him. He was undoubtedly right also when he said that the result would be a consolidation of Socialist votes on the La Follette Republican candidate, Thompson. But McGovern's logic failed when he said he would withdraw and support La Follette, because he should know that the election of a loyal Republican candidate in the primary competition, it is a thousand times more important to the state than the election of a Republican candidate in the general election. It will take all the patriotic votes in Wisconsin to elect a loyal man to the senate. Every Wisconsin voter knows that the election of a loyal man to the senate, a Wilson Democrat, would be an unequivocal way to express Wisconsin's loyal support of the administration and the war.

The fact that Mr. La Follette, Mr. Thompson and ex-Gov. McGovern have all been discussing one another, and exchanging late, have their own reasons. It is a Republican family affair. It is a Republican affair not because it represents the interests of the pro-German party, but because the interests of the pro-German party, naturally enough, sought to use the dominant party. The brewers, the pacifists and the irresponsible conspirators, with their tools and impediments, all got on board to run the Republican party in this state. It is not the duty of loyal Republicans to stand sponsor for such an effort. They may as well face facts. If they want to "save the Republican party," so that it may continue in its present condition, they will do so at the sacrifice of the state and the good of the people. There is no better way to have Mr. Thompson nominated than Mr. La Follette. The issue will then need no explanation, and the Republicans are for the country first they can elect Mr. Davies.

At the primary we will learn how straight Wisconsin is and this will be the test. It all depends on loyal Republicans and their ability to be patriotic in a great emergency.

The Municipality for October-November, 1917, is a magazine published at Madison. "Devoted to the interests of Town, County, Village and City Affairs," edited by Prof. Ford H. MacGregor of the university staff. I have a habit of saving interesting things and the magazine has attracted about this number was a portrait of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and a stonographic report of his "patriotic address" before the League of Municipalities at its annual convention at Madison, Sept. 27 last. The title, "The Hun Within Our Gates," attracted me, especially as it got emphasis from the fact that Gov. Phillips was on hand on this auspicious and important occasion to introduce this distinguished speaker.

Last March the Defense League held the first big meeting to call together Milwaukee's loyal citizens, regardless of party, and before some 700 of them Senator Hustling, Guy B. Goff, a brilliant poet, F. X. Zwieterik, and Representative Irene L. Jensen were the speakers. There had been opposition to an invitation to Mr. La Follette. He was not pronounced enough for such an occasion. When his answer came from Washington it was that he would come but would indulge in no personalities, or words to that effect. It was interesting to mean that he would participate in no attack upon La Follette. As no such attack had been contemplated or suggested, the natural inference drawn from Mr. La Follette's reply was rather disquieting to his boosters and they feared that the objectors were right. So Senator Hustling was told of the doubts and he generously smoothed the way. La Follette came out from Washington with a prepared speech that was not satisfactory until Senator Hustling was again called in to labor with the representative. He generously gave it a pass and the strange thing happened, that inspired by the great audience and the highly charged patriotic atmosphere, Mr. La Follette made quite a new speech and a better one. He had been at the foot of the program and had measured the effect of the speeches that preceded him. It was not a trip-hammer blow for American but it was so much better some had feared that for one I felt grateful.

Along the days when this meeting was considered the name of Roosevelt was occasionally heard. My ears pricked up and so did others. We were sitting in a room where the League, Mr. Wheeler P. Blodgood, was a "Bull Moose" grant of 1912, and Frank M. Hoyt was another, and Guy D. Goff and Willet Spencer were now in full sympathy, and Dr. Charles McCarthy of Madison was, as I soon learned, close on the sidelines, and in good, familiar touch. Later, when the League was exposed by the "old guard" recruited by ex-Gov. McGovern and some of his personal "Bull Moose" contingent of 1912 fell into the new Loyalty League organization, some men began to wonder what was going on. Later when a number of strong Republicans wanted a non-partisan patriotic meeting and turned it over to the Loyalty League, they were told in cold storage over three months until announcement was finally made that Col. Roosevelt would be the principal speaker, and the League was exposed by the "old guard" unexpected. Meanwhile the colonel's friend, George Perkins, and that other sturdy reformer, Boise Penrose, had at St. Louis, captured a hearty chairman of the national Republican committee. A conference called to pick Mr. La Follette for the senatorial race received this new chairman's benediction. Taken after a few days of play to the galleries, McGovern, who swore fierce oaths he would not retire, saw sudden danger in two loyal candidates, and got out of Mr. La Follette's way with a sequacious assurance that he would support him. Gossips suggest that harmony came out of the east, and say: "Watch McGovern. They'll make him senior if 'Bull Moose' is reached. If not, he'll be the next governor."

This is merely a recital of matters most of which are within my personal range, none of which taken separately are of much significance but strung together look like a thread running through something over which the League of Municipalities, the "Teddy" trail on a hunt for bear. Recent events in Wisconsin don't always make it appear a path strewn with the flowers of the conquerors, but who can tell. The old confusions are snapping apart and there is to be snowdown right away in the Republican party of Wisconsin. We will know next Tuesday whether the Roosevelt progressives are in command and whether Philip and La Follette are left together back in the breach. At all events these few lines may give some puzzled Republicans answers to questions for which they have for some time been unable to get a hearing. They may here find a key to the necessity that makes the saving of the Republic more important just now than the saving of Wisconsin from the obliquity of treason and the deep hurt of a burden of false witness.

The teachers and pupils of the school gave a party in the school house Tuesday evening for Mrs. Paul and Miss Ella Larimore, who are soon to leave with their parents for their new home at Mountain Grove in the Ozark region.

Refreshments were served. It was nearly eleven o'clock when the guests began to depart for their several homes, reporting that they had spent a most enjoyable evening.

A most pleasant affair was that at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Silverthorn when on Thursday afternoon, March 14, a number of ladies gathered ostensibly for a meeting of the Ladies' Aid, but which in reality was a surprise for Mrs. Larimore, who is soon to leave this village, and also for Mrs. Frank Gahagen, wife and baby are expected to arrive here from Chicago, but who for a number of years past has resided in Hanover, and who, although unable to attend, has always been more or less interested in the society and has helped whenever it was possible for her to do so.

And despite the fact that the day was stormy and the roads were in attendance and as many more would have been present had the weather been more favorable. It was a complete success and the ladies were delighted and all enjoyed a pleasant afternoon.

Delicious refreshments were served, after which, on behalf of the society and of the ladies, Mrs. Gahagen presented Mrs. Larimore with a beautiful souvenir spoon and Mrs. Larimore with a cut glass berry dish, sugar bowl and creamer. The recipients responded and expressed thanks for some.

Frank Gahagen, wife and baby are expected to arrive here from Chicago, but who for a number of years past has resided in Hanover, and who, although unable to attend, has always been more or less interested in the society and has helped whenever it was possible for her to do so.

And despite the fact that the day was stormy and the roads were in attendance and as many more would have been present had the weather been more favorable. It was a complete success and the ladies were delighted and all enjoyed a pleasant afternoon.

Delicious refreshments were served, after which, on behalf of the society and of the ladies, Mrs. Gahagen presented Mrs. Larimore with a beautiful souvenir spoon and Mrs. Larimore with a cut glass berry dish, sugar bowl and creamer. The recipients responded and expressed thanks for some.

Mrs. Dunn expects to leave to make her home with relatives in the Ozark region of Missouri, and these tokens of regard will long remind them of their many friends in old Footville.

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENING.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

The sudden transition from winter to summer is an experience which never disappoints the northern tourist as he journeys south from the snowbound climate of Wisconsin and enters the zone of perpetual summer. People from Kentucky and Tennessee, as well as from the Carolinas, are here, and talk about going south for the winter the same as the rest of us from the northern states.

The heavy freeze last year, which extended as far south as Key West, killed the foliage and many of the young fruit trees, but the country soon recovered and no traces are left of damage. The orange and grape-fruit crop, in southern Florida, is abundant, and one local buyer, who lost seventy thousand dollars last year, says that he has more than made it up this season. The price of fruit, like everything else, is much higher this year.

The little hotel at Cleveland, three hundred miles south of Jacksonville, is well filled with guests this winter, most of them elderly people, living out close to the edge of time, and all of them fishermen, for that is the one great attraction of Charlotte Harbor and the streams entering into it. The fishing, however, is not as good as a year ago, and the fish liar is at a loss for a story. Ten tarpon have been hooked during the past week by amateurs from the hotel, but none of them landed.

The tarpon has never been considered a table fish, but everything that swims is in demand this year, and all kinds of rough fish are bought at from two to four cents a pound, while choice varieties are double the price of a year ago. At that there seems to be no shortage of food in the south. St. Petersburg is so full of sugar that the merchants turned down a carload offered last week.

The guests at the Cleveland hotel have been living on quail all winter, supplied by Mr. Chahoon, who shoots as well at seventy-nine as he did a dozen years ago, and who seems to have discovered the foundation of perpetual youth. The climate of southern Florida, and the care-free life, is a tonic to people who are living on borrowed time, and the grim messenger appears to have a wholesome respect for them.

Lake Ocochobee, opposite Palm Beach, and at the head of the Everglades, is still undrained, in spite of the three or four million dollars squandered by the state and federal government for that purpose. The treasury still has some funds, and a committee is now in Washington to secure a permit to go on with the work, using as an argument the fact that land is needed for crops this year, and that when this lake, forty miles square, is drained, that millions of acres of choice land will be redeemed—the wildest scheme that ever flourished in the mind of a smooth promoter.

The good Lord intended that the Seminole Indians, and the snakes and alligators should have a home, where they could live in comparative quiet and safety, so he planned the lake and the big dismal swamp, known as the Everglades, for their occupancy. They are still there as practically the sole possessors, in spite of the fact that the big swamp has been blue-printed and much of it sold to northern suckers.

The mania for road building, which struck southwestern Florida two years ago, has become an epidemic, and the deluded people are spending money like drunken sailors. The money is secured by bond issue which somebody is expected to pay in the "sweet by-and-by." One of these new roads, costing seventy-five thousand dollars, not yet completed, runs from Cleveland, twenty miles east through the pine and palmetto to a little cluster of half a dozen houses known as "Bermont." The government employs a mail carrier, at one thousand dollars a year, to serve this little hamlet, and he is the sole patron of the road, and likely to be for time to come. The postmaster general might make a note of it.

The administration is very considerate of the south, and yet is severely criticised by many southern people for incompetency. The south is nothing if not patriotic, and while usually not inclined to hurry, the people realize the necessity now for prompt action. They have given their boys freely to the army, and the boys have gone voluntarily by the thousands. The socialism, and spirit of unrest, which is just now cursing the world, does not annoy the south, for there is no foreign population and class hatred is unknown.

No state in the Union is so badly tainted with socialism as Wisconsin. The little city of Wausau elected a socialist to the legislature, a month ago, and the vote for Berger, at the coming election, will surprise many people.

The war has leveled class and caste, and the pendulum has swung back to the extreme. Democracy is a word to conjure with. The majority of people in Janesville were led to believe that they were not represented in the commission form of government, and so they voted to abandon it. The same people will select and elect the coming common council, a responsibility which they must assume, and for which they will be held accountable. That it will be any improvement on the one retired six years ago, is an open question, which time will determine. The city will again be the football of politics, and if the people are wise they will remove the saloon as a factor.

It is a popular notion that the people are always right, but it is a mistaken notion, as is evidenced today in Russia. A mob is never right, and yet it can be assembled at any time on short notice, and the slightest pretext. The people are right when they agree to select wise and competent leadership, and then under loyal support. A city is nothing but a big corporation, which like any organization can be better managed by one man than by a dozen, as the city of Toledo has clearly demonstrated. This hue and cry about the Commercial club is the veriest rot. Take out of the city the public-spirited men of this club, who have worked so faithfully for public welfare, and grass would be growing in the streets in a twelve month.

The Commercial club has arranged to absorb itself into a chamber of commerce, and thus broaden its work by uniting all organizations for civic betterment. The plan was ready for action when the city election came on, but postponed to give right of way to the county war fund committee, who were ready to launch their campaign. It should be taken up and vigorously pushed, at an early date. The city without an organization of this kind, is like a ship without a rudder.

This digression has nothing to do with the south, except by way of comparison, so far as conditions are concerned. The spirit of restlessness does not annoy in this enervating climate, where the slogan is, "Never do today what you can do tomorrow," and so there are many things which are still waiting to be done. Politicians may worry, but the people never do.

The natives of southwestern Florida, are people of moderate wants and small incomes. The little house, the truck garden of an acre or less, or the fishing smack, comprise their earthly possessions, and the tax collector finds poor picking. The little city of Punta Gorda, at the head of Charlotte Harbor, has two banks. One of the guests at Cleveland called on one of them, the other day, to cash some Liberty bond coupons, and the cashier told him that they were the first he had ever seen. The postmaster in the little city said that he had sold five hundred thrift stamps, and more than half of them to tourists at Cleveland.

It is a revelation to people from the north to see how happy and contented people can be in a land of simple wants, where the children can go barefoot the year round if necessary. A dollar looks bigger in this country than a twenty dollar note anywhere else, and yet there is but little poverty. The people live close to a nature which changes but little in a life time. Millions of acres just as God made it long ago, and promoters fail to mar the scenery.

The Kaiser has his admirers down in this country, and they occasionally break forth in verse, as will be seen by the following effusion from a late issue of the Tampa Tribune.

Lucifer sat on a mountain of bones
One hand clenching under his chin.
He spat with contempt at the million groans
That were paying the price of sin.
Those who had erred in existence below,
Who had murdered their fellows in hate,
Thieved or blasphemed, for more than they sow,
They must pay at extortionate rate.

He racked his brain for an age or more,
For the Hohenzollern name
Had come to his mind to trouble him sore,
As he thought of his vanishing fame.
He frowned and muttered with devilish calm,
And a plan he synthesized,
While he thought of his weakening trident arm
He thusly soliloquized:

"Wilhelm, you wonderful bluff, you liar,
You massacrering friend of the Turk,
With a heart of ice that could cool hell's fire,
And a glory in blood that's berserk,
You're slaughtering women with babes at their breast,
And murdering children at prayer;
You pillage and slink from the east to the west
And still have a psalm-singing air."

"You gave me joy on the date of your birth;
I withered your arm by your side,
To embitter your life, and I thought you MY pawn,
But I'm YOURS; you have made me decide
To acquiesce quickly the throne of these regions
To you when your soul floats in view.
You're the pastmaster to torture hell's legions.
I can't hold a candle to you!"

MEETING OF FARMERS HELD AT FOOTVILLE TO DISCUSS PRICE

meeting of farmers—
Milk Producers Agree Not to Deliver
Milk Unless Paid Government Price.

Members of the Footville Milk Producers' association held a meeting at the Footville hall this morning at ten o'clock and thoroughly discussed the milk situation. The association is composed of two hundred and twenty-five members and ten new members were taken in at the meeting this morning.

The result of the meeting was made known when it was announced that the producers would stand by the government price of $2.10 per hundred. The members of the association are at the present time producing over forty thousand pounds of milk each day. They stated this morning that unless paid the government price they would not distribute their milk.

The price of $2.10 is causing much discussion throughout this state and Illinois. Harry A. Wheeler, state food administrator of Illinois, announced on Friday that the price which was fixed by Mr. Lamb of Herbert Hoover's office would stand. Mr. Lamb also stated that the price fixed was to stand and that no new price would be given.

Prices for April delivery are to be announced at a meeting held in Chicago today. These figures will be based on the cost of duty, feeds and other factors according to the formula adopted by the milk commission. The formula indicates how much of each kind of feed and how much labor are required for the production of 100 pounds of milk.

PREPAREDNESS.
Though the weather may dare
To hang out the "Bright and fair,"
It will prove to be a snare—
Keep 'em on.

Though the birds in the trees
Cast their songs upon the breeze,
If you wouldn't wheeze and sneeze,
Keep 'em on.

Though the geese are northward bound,
And they honk across the sound,
And the loeman calls around,
Keep 'em on.

For the signs of earth and sky
Are not safe to reckon by
Till the 7th of July—
Keep 'em on.

Uncle Sam had better hurry up if He is going to get his $1-a-year's worth out of some of these "representative business men" who are working for him.

There is a slight suspicion in certain localities that some of them are overpaid.

Isn't it time to have some kind soul knit a pair of nice warm socks for Lord Lansdowne, who seems to be suffering with terribly cold feet?

A MOTHER THOUGHT.
Oh, my laddie! Oh, my laddie!
Can't you hear me bravely singing
As I tuck the covers round you?
Or a drink to you I'm bringing?
Do you hear me in the night time
When you call in dreams that Saying: "Go to sleep, my laddie,
It will very soon be light!"

Oh, my laddie! Oh, my laddie!
Don't you know that I am near
Have the hands that once caressed you
Lost the mother gift to cheer you?
Do you think the dreary distance
Keeps the heart of me away?
Can't you hear me calling to you
As I called but yesterday?

Oh, my laddie! Oh, my laddie!
I have followed where you wander.
Here the flesh of me is dwelling,
But my soul is with you vander.
Yes, my soul to you is singing
In the days before this danger
Made a soldier boy of you!

Oh, my laddie! Oh, my laddie!
Through the trials now before you,
Through the perils of the night time
I shall still be watching o'er you.
Can't you feel my mother fingers
Smooth the hair about your brow?
Can't you see me, oh my laddie,
Standing there beside you now?

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

The Janesville Gazette: While we are giving our tributes to the soldier and sailor boys, let us not cast slurs on those who are serving their country in other ways.

Every man should serve where he can be of greatest use to his country at this great crisis. I know a farmer's son whose father is physically unable to do the present work, and whose mother is in such a condition of mental and physical illness that she must be kept from unusual strain.

This young man has been urged by influential and progressive men to accept exemption from the draft. He has done so. He "stands for President Wilson and the United States."

He is "wishing and working for his country's success." He is doing his duty where he is. When his duty is to go, he will go gladly and willingly. Some people sent him a Gazette article with the words "holding place."

"Slacker," "excuse" understood. Slurs like this do not make for patriotism nor unity of national feeling. Let us be fair. Let us believe in the patriotism of our young men until there is proof to the contrary.

Only a limited number of men can be trained at a time. The others who are yet to go will be just as ready when their time comes. We have a great task before us, and no man can see the end. But America is going to see this thing through. The patriotism of our people is magnificent.

It is no exaggeration to say that the prevailing sentiment everywhere, daily growing stronger and more determined, is that to this cause "We pledge our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

RECEIVES WORD FROM BROTHER WHO IS IN MISSIONARY SERVICE

B. A. Markham Receives Word from Brother Who Was Stationed in Bulgarian Capital—Is Now in London.

L. A. Markham, county agricultural agent, has received a clipping taken from the Boston Globe giving the statements made by his brother, B. A. Markham of Kansas City, Mo., a missionary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, in London a short time ago, relative to the strikes which are taking place in Austria-Hungary. Mr. Markham has not heard from his brother for a long time and the news that he had arrived safely in London was very welcome.

Mr. Markham's brother was for six years stationed in Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, and on his trip to England was subjected for months to the military quarantine in Austria. The article taken from the Boston Globe is as follows:

"We must not base our hopes of beating the Central Powers on international dissensions in those countries. The strikes in Austria-Hungary are insignificant compared with the wave of enthusiasm which has come with the Russian breakdown and signing of a separate peace."
This was the statement made by R. H. Markham of Kansas City, Mo., a missionary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, who has been in London for the last six years in the Near East. He reached here Tuesday from Sofia, with his wife and children. They left the Bulgarian capital early in January and were subjected for months to the military quarantine in Austria.

"Bulgaria," said Mr. Markham, "is the vital point in the armor of the Central Powers and Bulgaria knows it. Bulgaria wants anything. Germany and Austria give it to her. There is no love for the Germans. On the contrary, there is friendship toward the Entente peoples especially American."

"Bulgarians treat their prisoners well. They openly demonstrate their friendship for Americans. They don't want to place themselves hopelessly on the side of the Germans. They want to have friends on the Entente side, particularly in the United States, in the event the war does not go as well as they think it will."

Among the Americans now in Sofia is Consul General Murphy. He has been prevented by the Austrians from rejoining him since he went last summer to Holland. Four employees of the American Tobacco Company are there, who have been prevented from doing so principally by the Austrians. They are Johnston, Steele, Hyatt and Finger. A. C.

Speaking of the internal conditions in Bulgaria, Mr. Markham said:
"Bulgaria's army is in much better condition than Austria's. There are 800,000 men under arms, though not all are at the front."
"What is considered probable is an attack on the Salonica forces, in conjunction with 100,000 Germans, once the Rumanian peace is signed. They hesitate at making a move until there is certainty about Rumania's policy."
The peace which the Central Powers have made with Russia has, besides opening up new food supply regions given to Turkey the richest oil fields in Europe, according to Mr. Markham, who asserted that this would have its effect in bracing up the Turks, despite the hardships suffered by the people. He declared that Hungary had the best bread he had come across during his trip.

DRILLS CONTINUE AS SCHEDULED TO MEET EMERGENCY

Sixteenth Separate Company Taking Up Guard, Firing and Riot Duty At Special Drills.

Acting under orders that the services of the Sixteenth Separate Company might be needed in the immediate future for active service, special drills have been inaugurated, starting on Friday evening. They will continue Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week, with the usual semi-annual muster, Monday, March 25th.

Guard Duty, Riot Work, Loading and Firing, and other incidents for active service in these areas are being taken up at these special drills. All members of the company have been issued the blue uniforms to be prepared for an emergency, and word has been received here that the new uniform is being rushed, so that if possible they will be issued before the local company is called in to service.

The new uniform is of a similar design to those that are worn by the Canadian "over the sea contingent," but with rolling collar, and will include army shoes, samples of which will be fitted to the members of the company on Monday evening, leggings, flannel shirts and campaign hats. The state has also made requisition for new rifles and full equipment, which will be issued as soon as received.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN PLAN FOR BIG YEAR

Plans for a busy season's work were outlined by the members of the Women's society of the Presbyterian church at a meeting held on Friday in the church.

The program of the year was outlined on the chairman of the different branches of work, to outline the activities of their divisions.

Miss Metella Calkins, chairman of the community work department, reported Mrs. Edw. Duthie as assistants in the work. Their duties are to find a place of meetings, and provide and supervise of Red Cross work done in the department. A committee of ladies to do the finishing of garments before they were turned in was announced. Birthday meetings of a social nature were planned, the proceeds to go into the young people's equipment fund.

Miss Elizabeth Paterson, chairman of the social welfare committee, announced their co-operation with work in that line of the city federation, and named Miss Margaret Paterson and Mrs. Earl Brown as assistants.

Mrs. Allen, secretary of the young people's committee, had chosen Mrs. Horneifer and Mrs. Walter Pitcher as assistants. Besides assisting in the Sunday school, the work of this committee was outlined as helping in young people's work in the community, in work of Boy Scouts, and in the Girls' club, already a part of the activity of the church.

Mrs. C. A. Wood, head of the Garden club committee, had chosen Mrs. Korst and Mrs. W. Sherman as assistants. The plan for the committee included the co-operation with the garden clubs in the schools, and encouragement of all in that line.

The work for the afternoon was in charge of the department of needlework, and the ladies worked on hospital shirts and general supplies. Two sewing machines were kept busy as well as the hand workers. Light refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon by the second ward department of the social committee.

Mrs. Earl Brown and Mrs. Tunstead were in charge. There were about fifty ladies present at the meeting.

CORP. F. HILT GIVES LIFE FOR DEMOCRACY

Member of Co. M Passes Away at Camp McArthur Today of Pneumonia.—Has Brother in France.

Corporal Frank E. Hilt, member of Co. M, 128th U. S. Inf., and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hilt of 233 Riverside street, this city, passed away at noon today at the base hospital, Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas. The cause of his death was due to pneumonia which he contracted shortly after Christmas at the outbreak of the war.

Corporal Hilt was a brave and for a few weeks it was thought he would recover, but a relapse which he suffered about two weeks ago made him lose his citizenship privileges among which is listed the power to vote.

Corporal Hilt is the first Janesville boy to give his life in the fight for democracy. He enlisted in this city last spring and by hard and diligent study he was soon promoted to corporal. He was a favorite with the boys of Co. M, and although very sick he regretted that he was unable to leave Waco when his organization left for France.

The deceased was born in this city on October 1, 1897, making him nineteen years of age. He went through the public schools of this city and was finishing school worked for his father for several years. He was a member of the Trinity Episcopal church of this city and a very good Christian. His mother, Mrs. W. J. Hilt, fully aware of the serious condition of her son, left for Waco several weeks ago and was at his bedside when he passed away.

He leaves to mourn his loss a loving father and mother, three brothers, W. J., who is with Co. M in France; John and Emmanuel Hilt, of this city, and four sisters, Mrs. Nellie Nelson, Francis, Mary and Maggie Hilt, all of Janesville.

It is thought that his body will arrive from Waco on Tuesday. Funeral notice will be given later.

MERCHANTS HOLD SPRING OPENINGS

Despite Weather Conditions Local Stores Hold Successful Openings and Unveiling of the Windows.

Although Thursday morning it looked as though the storm king had decided to freeze up this section of the country and bury it under a blanket of snow for another several weeks the merchants decided to go through with the unveiling of the windows showing the new spring styles at 7:30 p. m. of that evening. Fortunately the weather cleared and the unveiling was held according to the original schedule with the Bower City Band furnishing music in front of the stores.

Participating in the unveiling. Large crowds of people were on hand and many were the exclamations heard on all sides remarking on the beauty of the displays. These displays would do credit to a State street store in Chicago, and are worth a trip of inspection. Yesterday and today the openings were held in a quiet manner and the spring buying season has really started. This grand combined spring opening of the Janesville stores gives an idea of how ready important this city is as a trading center.

A NOVEL GROCERY OPENS TODAY

Postal Stores on West Milwaukee Street Operate on Unique Plan in Selling Groceries.

A grocery store that is operated on the "help yourself" plan, similar to that employed by the cafeterias at the cities, opening at its doors to the public today at No. 205 West Milwaukee street. The new store will be known as The Postal Stores and is the second of a chain to start in Wisconsin.

When Madame Housewife starts to shop at the Postal Stores she enters the door, where a market basket is provided in which she may carry the groceries she selects to the wrapping counter to be wrapped. After taking the basket she starts down one of the lanes, of which there are several, in which are displayed and price ticketed brands of groceries, canned and packaged goods what she needs, coming finally to the wrapping counter where cash is paid and while the goods are being wrapped she may pay for them as everything sold is for cash only.

A considerable number of customers were recommended on this first day, and Mr. H. C. Jura, manager, is satisfied that the store will be most successful.

FAIR WEATHER FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Tomorrow Will be Warm and Sunny—Shamrocks and Green Carnations Will be Worn by Hundreds.

If weather predictions may be relied upon, tomorrow, St. Patrick's day, will be warm with plenty of sunshine, and hundreds of people are expected wearing the shamrock, the emblem of Old Erin. Green carnations as well as shamrocks were sold on the streets today in large numbers and will no doubt be much in evidence tomorrow.

Exercises commemorating the death of the apostle and patron saint of Ireland will be held at the Myers' hall tomorrow evening under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

LOCAL BOYS WILL GO TO CHICAGO NEXT WEEK TO GET INTO THE ARMY RADIO CORPS

C. F. Hill, director of the local Vocational Schools, received a request from the board of Vocational Schools in Madison, requesting the rating of the various radio students, their draft numbers, and general information relative to their ability. A blank was enclosed in the letter, on which the standing of the students will be placed, and presumably these ratings will then be forwarded to the War Department.

VOTING PRIVILEGES ARE DENIED 132 MEN

Aliens Making Declarations Before 1906 And Failing To Apply For Second Papers Until After 1913 Not Citizens

One hundred and thirty-two men in Rock County will not be allowed to vote at the primaries next Tuesday, April 22, because they failed to make their naturalization papers having been outlawed by a recent supreme court decision taking away their citizenship rights. According to the decision, any alien who made his declaration to become a United States citizen prior to September 27, 1906, and who did not apply for his second papers until after September 27, 1913, has lost his citizenship privileges among which is listed the power to vote.

A list of these one hundred and thirty-two men was prepared today by Jesse Lurie, and copies were sent to the different polling places in the county. The election clerks have been instructed to watch closely for these men and when they appear to vote, to challenge them, thus throwing out their votes.

Whether these outlawed citizens will again be allowed to become citizens is a question which is up to Congress. Until the matter is taken up, these men will not be permitted to vote for any officers.

THE SERVICE GARAGE IS ALL THAT ITS NAME IMPLIES.

Claude Fredendall, Who Conducts the Service Garage at 416 West Milwaukee Street, Has A Complete, Modern and Up-to-date Garage, Giving Service That Motorists Like.

The SERVICE GARAGE is not the oldest garage in the city, it is not the largest. Nor is it necessary for it to be the oldest and the largest in order to excel in rendering motorists real efficient service. Yet when Claude Fredendall opened this garage on October 10th, 1917, he had the advantage of 14 years experience as a first class mechanic, electrician and all-round automobile man. It has been Mr. Fredendall's hobby since early boyhood to tear down and set up or rebuild some sort of an electrical or mechanical contrivance. And as he has made it his life's work, and studied it day by day, he has shown his many friends and the people of Janesville that "it is in him," and that he is one of the best all-round mechanics and electricians in the city.

The SERVICE GARAGE is situated at the end of West Milwaukee St., 4 doors west of the Y. M. C. A., where the street car turns to go to the depot. It is a modern, fire-proof brick building; well lighted and will accommodate about 25 cars. Mr. Fredendall employs only efficient mechanics who are skilled in all kinds of auto repairing and overhauling. All work turned out is under his personal supervision.

Mr. Fredendall features the well-known CARSPRING TIRE guaranteed 5000 miles. Mileage is the measure of any tires worth, and the final test is SERVICE. The Carspring has given service and is giving it every day to thousands of users. Service is Mr. Fredendall's slogan and that's the reason he is selling the Carspring. A Complete line of accessories are kept in stock at all times. They do expert repairing and vulcanizing of tires and tubes. In fact, the motorist can get anything and everything in his line at this garage at most reasonable charges.

The policy on which this garage has grown is so simple as to be an inspiration to us all. That policy as expressed in plain every-day language by Mr. Fredendall is—"the more we put into our service in goodness and satisfaction, the more customers we have to serve." And because Mr. Fredendall will continue to exercise this policy, the SERVICE GARAGE will continue to grow.
